

9. All posts by the student display.

The screenshot shows the Blackboard interface with a discussion forum post. The post is titled "DQ#1" and is a reply to "RE: DQ#1" by Judith Akachukwu. The post content reads: "I think that it is important to follow the definition of a Profession and an occupation to fully answer the question of whether nursing is a profession or an occupation. So I am glad that you pointed out the fact that in order for nursing to be considered a profession, it has to involve education. I think that no matter what people's opinions are, nursing is already a profession because of the rigorous coursework that is involved just to obtain a nursing license. So yes I hope it does become universally viewed as a profession as well, but if it is not, it is still a profession regardless. Even though I consider it a profession if furthering education was not involved, I believe it is extremely important to further education and by doing that, it will become universally viewed as a profession." The interface includes a navigation menu on the left, a course management section, and a top navigation bar with tabs for "myUSF", "Courses", "Content Collection", and "USF Libraries".

10. Enter the grade for the student and click "Submit."

The screenshot shows the Blackboard interface with the grade entry process. The post is titled "Grade Forum: Denise Passmore". The interface includes a navigation menu on the left, a course management section, and a top navigation bar with tabs for "myUSF", "Courses", "Content Collection", and "USF Libraries". The grade entry section shows a "Grade:" field with the value "15" entered, and a "Submit" button. A green arrow points to the "Submit" button. The interface also includes a "Print Preview" button and a "Filter" button.